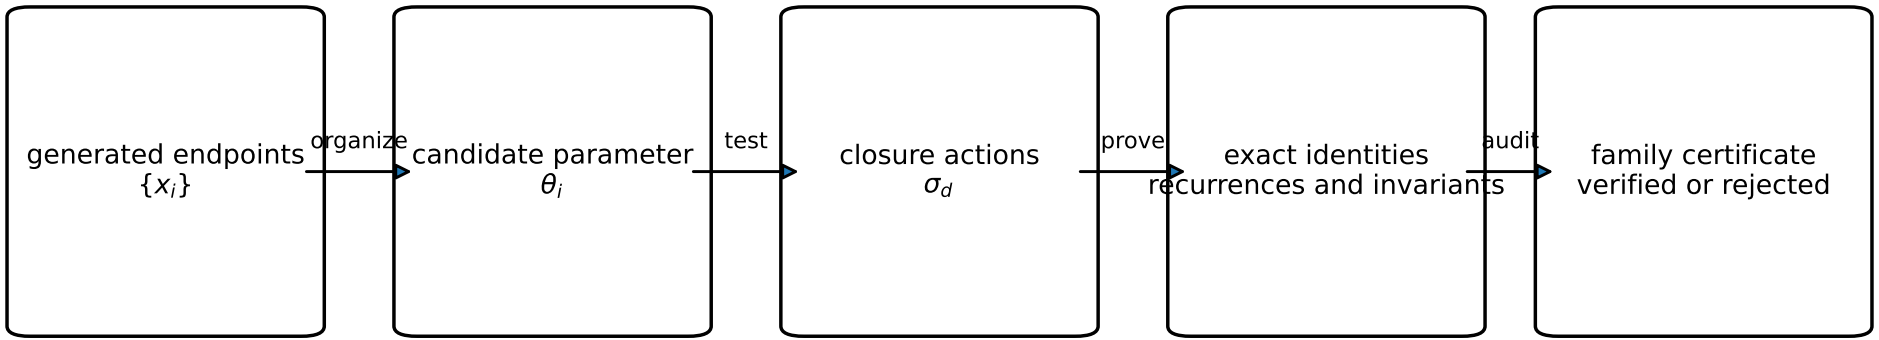
A generated family requires a certificate, not visual resemblance



A failed closure step is retained as evidence against the proposed family.