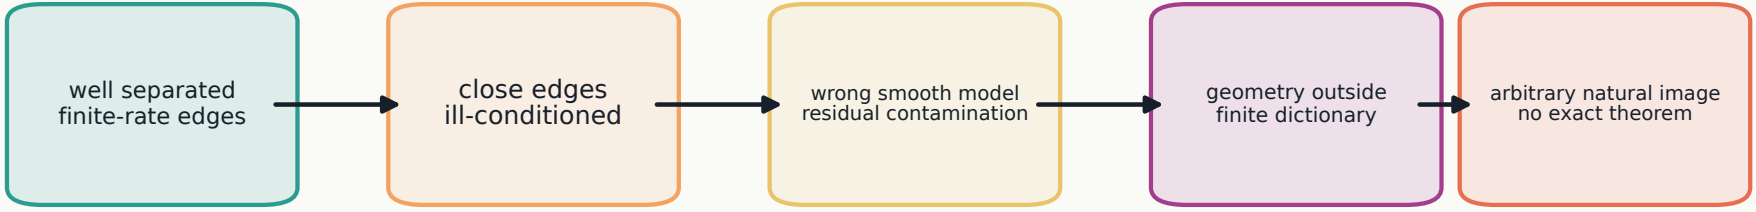
The benchmark is designed to find the boundary, not hide it



The exact theorem is strongest on the left. The right-hand cases are exploratory and are reported as such.