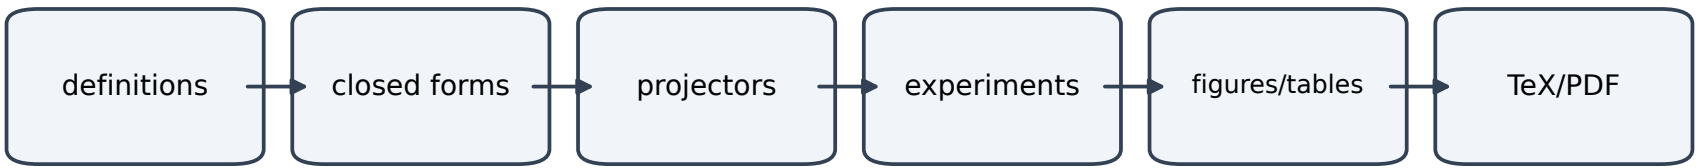
One Python file regenerates the entire mathematical artifact



Assertions are executed before the manuscript is written; a failed identity stops the build.