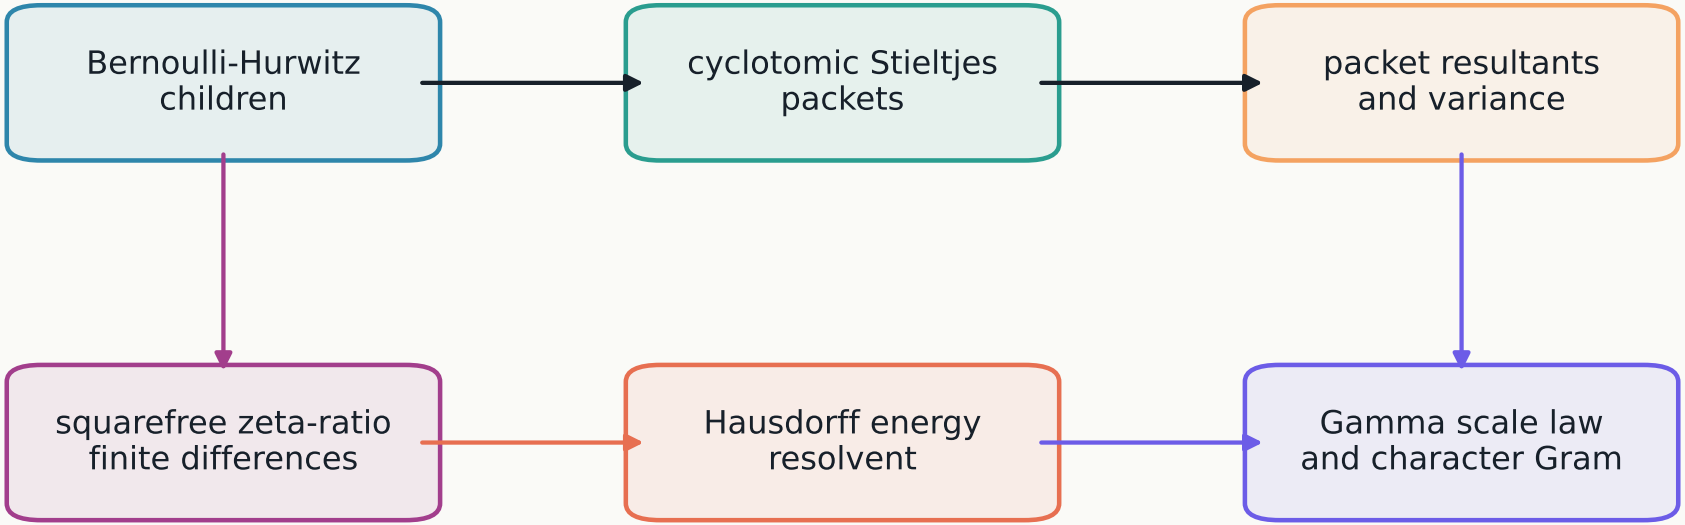
The second special-function family generated by the calculus



The analytic and arithmetic branches meet through finite transforms, positive moments, and asymptotic packet orthogonality.