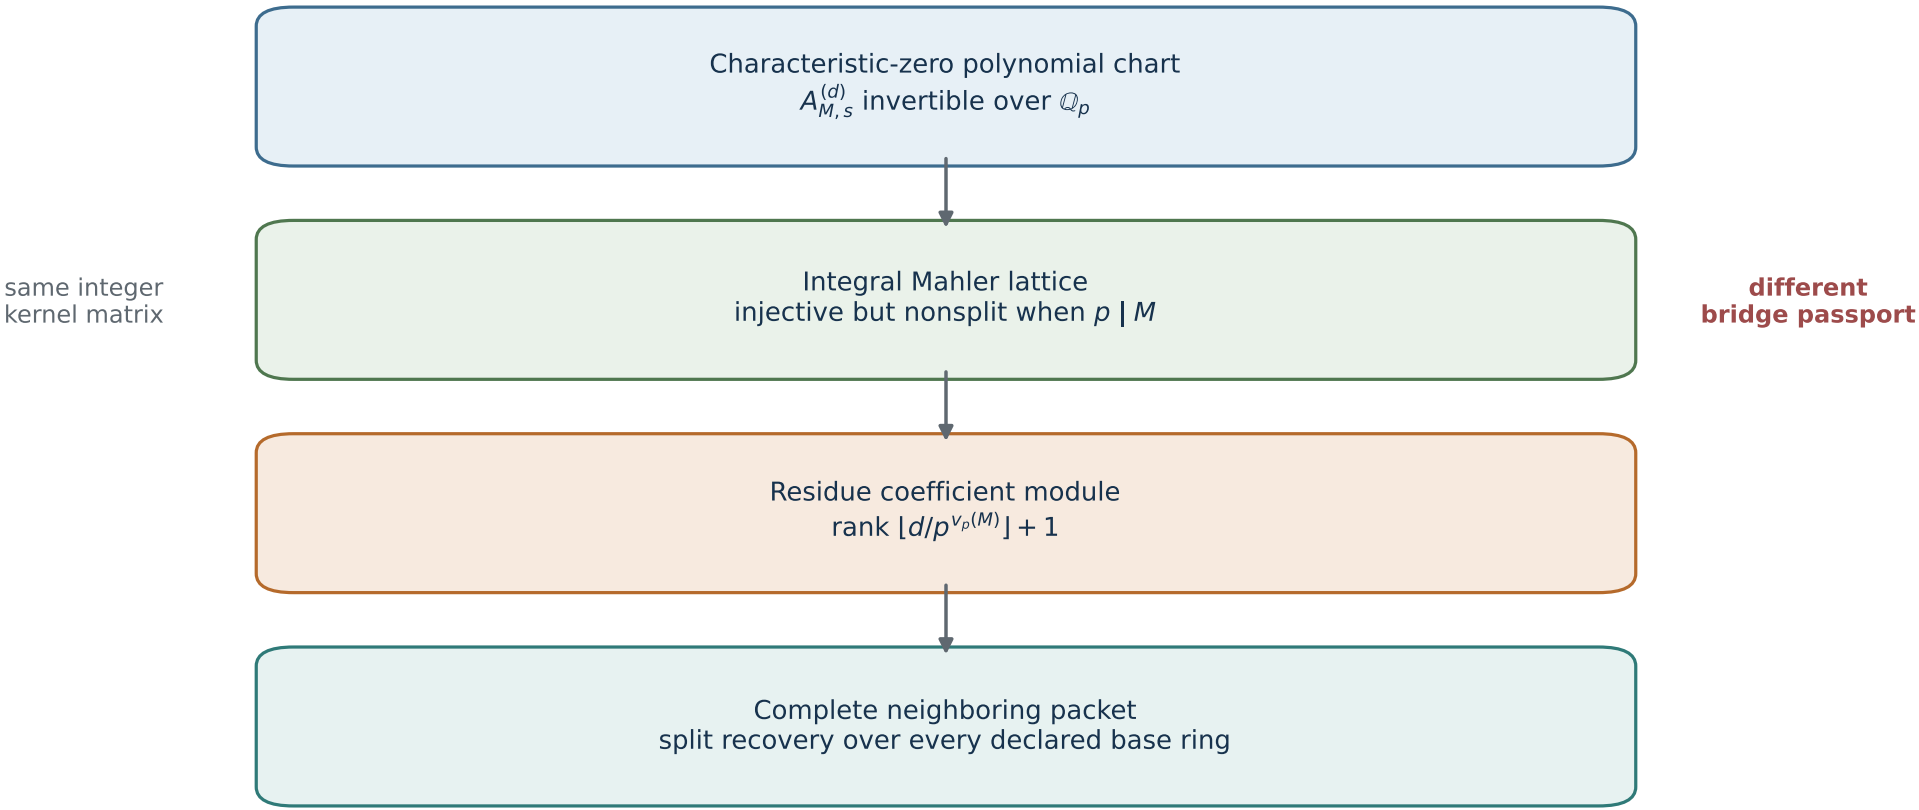
One affine branch has different status in four coefficient doctrines



Local injection, integral splitting, modular rank, and collective recovery are distinct theorem statements.